200 YEARS

The Dahlia

The International Dahlia Register is one of nine Registers for which the RHS is responsible. There are more than 20,000 dahlia cultivars of various sizes and flower types. These break down into 10 categories relating to the characteristics of the flowers.

Single Flowered Dahlias
have blooms with an outer ring of florets encircling a central disc.

GROUP 2

Anemone Flowered

have blooms with an outer ring of flattened ray florets surrounding a dense group of tubular florets.

GROUP 3
Collerette Dablings

have blooms with an outer ring of flat ray florets, with the collar, a ring of small florets in the centre, forming a disc.

GROUP 4
Wiley-Blackwell

have double bloom character;
by broad and sparse ray florets,
which are trough, giving the flower a shallow appearance.

GROUP 5
Decorative Dahlias

have double blooms. The ray florets are broad and flat and may be involute or slightly

GROUP 6
Ball Dahlias

have ball shaped double blooms. The ray florets are rounded, with margins spirally arranged and involute for at least 75% of

GROUP 7
Pommon Dablias

have double spherical blooms of miniature size, with florets involute for their whole length.

GROUP 8
Cactus Dahlias

have double blooms, the ray florets are pointed, narrow and revolute for at least 50% of their length, either straight or incurving (featured on the stamps).

GROUP 9
Semi-Cactus Dahlias

have double blooms; the ray florets are pointed, and white for more than 25% and less than 50% of their length. They are broad at the base, straight or incurving (featured in the buck-ground).

GROUP TO

Miscellaneous Dahlias
Any dahlia that does not fall into one of the foregoing groups e.g.
Orchid-flowered dahlias.

The Dahlia Grower's Guide

Year one

Choosing a location
Dahlias can be grown in vegetable and flower gardens, provided they have sufficient water, drainage and sunlight.

Planning your garden
Plants should be spaced 45 to 70cm apart depending on size. Rows should be between 1 and 1.5 m apart in order to provide good air circulation.

OCTOBER
Preparing the soil

Use this time to break up clumps and add compost, well-rotted manure and sand. In spring, fertilizer may be applied according to the manufacturer's recommended rates. Keep nitrogen levels lower than phosphorus and potassium, preventing excess top growth.

Planting tubers
These should be planted horizontally - 10 to 15 cm deep. Take care, as early growth tubers are extremely delicate. Cover the tubers and compact the soil lightly. Water in well.

JUNE
Providing support

When the plants are 30–40cm tall use tomato cages or garden stakes to supply support. Tie in at 30cm intervals as the plant grows.

JUNE-
NOVEMBER

Watering

Once the plants are growing rapidly water deeply every few days until two weeks before the

Year two

Autumn digging
Cut dahlias to 10cm after the first frost. They are easily composted, or stored over winter and divided in the spring. If there is no ground frost and the soil has good drainage the tubers may be left outdoors over winter.

WINTER
Winter storage Ground freezing prevents violent growth over winter.
To store tubers pack in moist sand, vermiculite, wood shavings or peat and store in cool conditions. A fine covering of autumn peat.

ENTENTE CORDIALE After years of debate and research into supersonic aircraft design, in November 1962 Britain and France agreed to build a supersonic airliner together.

SHARED PRODUCTION The airframe was constructed by British Aircraft Corporation (BAC) and Aérospatiale; the development of the Olympus jet engines was shared by Rolls-Royce and the French company SNECMA.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? Until 1967 the British-built aircraft had been referred to as 'Concord', but by the end of the year it was agreed that the name should change to keep it consistent with the French spelling - Concorde.

HISTORY IS MADE In March 1969 Concorde prototype 001 embarked on its maiden flight in France, flying from Toulouse. A month later, Concorde 002 also took to the skies for the first time, setting off from Filton, Bristol.
NATION'S PRIDE Awe-inspiring and incomparable since its debut flight in 1969, Concorde has remained a much-loved icon across the globe, as well as an exceptional example of aviation design.
RECORD-BREAKING In October 1969, French prototype Concorde 001 exceeded Mach 1 for the first time, and Britain's Concorde 002 achieved the feat in March 1970. Both aircraft reached Mach 2 in November 1970.

CHRISTMAS 2015

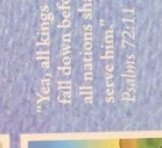

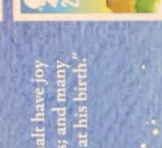

"For unto you is born
this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."
Luke 2:11

"And she shall bring forth
a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS; for
he shall save his people
from their sins."
Matthew 1:21

"And there were in the same country shepherds
abiding in the field,
keeping watch over
their flock by night."
Luke 2:8

"And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS."
Luke 1:31

"Where is he that is born King of the Jews for
we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him."
Matthew 2:2

"And the angel said unto them: Fear not: for, behold,
I bring you good tidings
of great joy, which shall be to all people."
Luke 2:10

"Yea, all kings shall
fall down before him:
all nations shall
serve him."
Psalms 72:11

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth
peace, good will toward men."
Luke 2:14

"And they came with
haste, and found Mary,
and Joseph, and the babe
lying in a manger."
